My rehab, my journey – Gadjigadji

About the artwork

This artwork was commissioned from the late Aunty Cecily Wellington-Carpenter who sadly passed away in late 2020. The style of the artwork is designed to appeal to the younger generation. The overarching message is, “Unity is the most important bond in all cultures”. The artwork depicts six circles of the hospital experience; coming into hospital, assessment, treatment, on the ward, visits by family and the importance of attending follow up appointments with your GP to get healthy. The middle circular designs with connecting paths means your health can go around in circles but there is a road to recovery. The artwork messages the importance of country, community and families in the recovery process. The images are symbolic of the importance of conveying kindness throughout the hospital experience.

For more information regarding the ‘My rehab, my journey – Gadjigadji’ program, please visit the website by scanning the QR Code