

Across

- One of the environmental safety concerns that should be considered before conducting a body measurement includes assessment s_____
- If the client has a pressure area in direct contact with the assessment surface, a_____ should be made or decision to assess the client when the wound is healed
- One of the 3 mandatory measurements for cushion prescriptions is hip _____
- Assessment should be conduct on a _____ surface
- Seat surface to _____ height should be included in th body measurement if thoracic lateral supports are required in a high back support
- Body measurement should be conducted according to the desired _____ established from the outcome of the MAT

Down

- _____ width and depth should be included in the body measurement if thoracic lateral supports are required in a high back support
- One of the safety concerns that should be considered before conducting a body measurement includes B_____
- If the client is a 'propped sitter', you may consider to perform the body measurement in _____
- One of the risk factors that should be considered before conducting a body measurement includes the w_____ of the client
- One of the safety factors that should be considered before conducting a body measurement includes s_____
- One of the 3 mandatory measurements for cushion prescriptions is thigh_____