

Gather the experience: planning tool

During the 'gather' phase of co-design, use this tool to think about where you have gaps in your knowledge and how you can target your work, so that you learn from the experience of others.

What do we know?	What do we think we know?	What do we want to know?	About or from whom?