

My rehab, my journey – Gadjigadji

About the artwork

This artwork is created by Danielle Mate Sullivan. The artwork shows the Aboriginal person at the centre of the circle. They are surrounded by the team – medical, family and friends – that supports them, shown by the grey people around them. The orange and red blend behind the people is the warmth and positive emotion that connects this team. The different coloured background sections around the outside, represent the country. The footprints represent connection to country, stomping on ground, disturbing the earth and connecting spiritually.
